At the Faculty of Philology the following Junior Professorship is to be filled starting on February 1, 2020.

W1- Junior Professorship Grammatical Systems of Non-European Languages

(Position will be offered for 3 years and is extendable another 3 years after successful evaluation.)

The holder of this position will conduct both teaching and research in the subject area. Applicants are expected to have an excellent scientific record in grammatical theory, in the area of morphology, phonology, or syntax, and to have an internationally visible research profile. Further expertise in at least one of the following areas is desirable: (a) an area of grammatical theory that complements the main area of expertise; (b) linguistic fieldwork; (c) mathematical linguistics; (d) semantics. The professorship will involve teaching duties at both graduate and undergraduate levels. Willingness to participate in cooperative research projects is expected.

Rights and obligations of the jobholder are within the Saxonian university law (SächsHSG) §§ 63, 64, 70 and the Saxonian public service task regulation (Sächsische Dienstaufgabenverordnung, DAVOHS). Applicants must meet the requirements of § 63 SächsHSG.

The junior professorship is considered a position for post-doctoral qualification. Therefore, the call is addressed to applicants with a completed doctoral degree, attributed with magna cum laude or higher, who seek further qualification and have not yet completed an habilitation. If applicants were employed as research associates or research assistants prior to or during the completion of their doctoral studies, the total period of employment and work on the doctoral thesis should not exceed six years.

The University of Leipzig emphasizes the equality of women and men. Handicapped applicants are encouraged to apply and given preference if equally qualified.

Applications with the usual documents, enclosing detailed CV, a list of the scientific work and academic teaching including available records of teaching evaluations and a certified copy of the certificate of the highest acquired academic degree should be sent, preferably also in a digital format as one PDF-document, before the March 29, 2019 to:

Universität Leipzig
Dekan der Philologischen Fakultät
Herrn Prof. Dr. Beat Siebenhaar
Beethovenstraße 15
04107 Leipzig
dekphilo@uni-leipzig.de

An application via email entails data protection and privacy risks. The sender therefore bears full responsibility.

By sending us your application documents you consent to the processing of the data contained within for the purpose of the professorial appointment process for the advertised junior professorship. You can revoke your consent at any time. The processing takes place exclusively for this professorial appointment process and is carried out on the basis of Article 6 of the GDPR (General Data Protection Regulation). This includes passing on data to the members of the Professorial Appointment Commission, the Commissioner for Equal Opportunities, the Representative Body for Severely Disabled Employees, the Professorial Appointment Commissioner, the Assessors, the Rectorate, the Faculty and University Administration and the Saxon State Ministry for Science and the Arts as part of their organisational or legal responsibilities. The storage of the data is subject to archive law provisions. In accordance with the GDPR you have the right to receive information from the recipient of the application about your personal data, the right to correction, deletion or restriction of processing, as well as a right to object to processing. If you have any questions, please contact the Leipzig University data protection officer (Mr Thomas Braatz, Augustusplatz 10, 04109 Leipzig, Tel.: 03419730081).